School Savings Banks.

The Educational Bureau of the Department of the Interior is doing good work of late in the collection, compilation and publication of statistics of schools and progress of education throughout the studying world. The latest bulletin issued by the Department contains accounts of the establishment of the school system of Belgium and its progress since the separation from the Netherlands fifty years ago, of the beginnings and present status of education in the island of Malta, and of that singular and commendable French idea, the School Savings Bank. M. Dulac, a teacher at Mans, established the first bank of the kind in 1834 and the idea was taken up by Italy ten years later. The plan is now in practice in Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Belgium. Belgium adopted the system in 1866. In that year M. Laurent, professor at the University of Ghent, called a meeting of some of the directors of the city schools. He told them that saving must be taught, like virtues, by practice. Children are the best agents of social reform. The future laborer must learn the great importance of small savings. While small savings are of great value to all the children, they are especially so to the children of the poor, who receive more pennies than larger coins, and to whom the habit of saving will be the only means of success in later life.

M. Laurent thoroughly explained his plans to the directors, and he then went from school to school, to give the children lessons of economy. In October, 1866, two communal schools of Ghent had each a savings bank, and, thanks to the encouragement on the part of the communal council, the city school commission, and two liberal societies, the savings banks have been introduced into all the city schools. Of the 45,000 pupils of these schools, more than 13,000 have deposits, each exceeding one franc. From Ghent the savings banks spread over the whole country, and the Belgian system was later introduced in several places in Germany, Holland, and Italy.

The following is the method of M. Malarce in France: After having made arrangements with the nearest savings bank, the director of the school informs his pupils that he is ready to receive their small savings (the amount of the deposit must not exceed 5 francs), and that as soon as the deposits amount to one franc he will transfer them to the regular savings bank. The director fixes a day in each week, when, at the beginning of the school, deposits will be received. He has before him a register, in which he enters the names of depositors and the amount deposited. Each pupil keeps a duplicate account on a single sheet of paper, with sufficient columns for the whole school year.

The above is the simple process as far as the school room is concerned. The transactions outside of the school room, the relations with the savings banks, are also very simple. In the beginning of every month the teacher adds the deposits of every pupil, and in case they exceed one franc he deposits the even francs at the savings bank and keeps the amounts of less than one franc on the register of the school savings bank. The bank books of the depositors are kept by the teacher as long as the pupils attend school. When a pupil leaves school, the book is handed over to his parents or guardians. No pupil can withdraw a part or the whole of his deposit without the consent of his parents or guardians.

In spreading an account of the theory and practical workings of this system the Bureau of Education doubtless seeks to excite a public sentiment in its favor in this country. The plan is certainly one worthy of study if not of imitation.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer remarks that "the latest returns are not encouraging to those who bring libel suits against newspapers. Even your Uncle Dick Bishop can only get a $500 verdict against the Cincinnati Gazette where $60,000 was asked. After Governor Bishop has paid the costs he will find himself a couple of thousand dollars behind. It would be just liko the Gazette too, to refuse to settle on a basis of $500 and insist on squandering more money in a new trial."

STATISTICS for May show an increase in the grain receipts of St. Louis of 30 per cent. over the same month of 1880 and a decrease in Chicago's receipts of 46 per cent. St. Louis now receives nearly half as much grain as the "City by the Lake." It formerly received only one-fifth.

Ideality in the Physical Sciences. By Benjamin Peirce. Little, Brown & C. 12 mo.; pp. 211.

The great mathematician of Cambridge has in this posthumous volume of six Lowell lectures, given the general public a means of understanding the great enthusiasm of affection expressed concerning him by his intimate friends. It was not simply that he was the greatest mathematician in America, it was not his services to astronomy, nor his remarkable contributions to geodesy, nor his learned discussions of the physics of the globe, that gave him so warm a place in the hearts of his friends, so high an estimation in the circle of American scientists. It was that the brilliancy of his intellect was matched by the constructive power of his imagination, by the playfulness of his fancy, by the sincerity of his friendships, by the strictness of his integrity, by the earnestness of his faith. He looked at a new problem, perplexing and bewildering other men, saw through it at a glance; saw its relation to the general laws of nature; saw it as a part in the great poem of nature. He spoke upon it; and those who had been in vain endeavoring to unravel some single sentence in the poem, were suddenly thrilled to the heart by the beauty and pathos of the whole; that wave of feeling illuminated in turn the intellect, and the obscure sentence had become plain. The light and inspiration which Peirce was thus continually giving to scientific gatherings, and to individual friends, can be found, of course, in a feebler degree in this volume. It does not require mathematics or scientific knowledge to comprehend it; it is a book for all who would be made conscious of the dignity and glory of human nature, or would learn to lean with grateful confidence upon the wisdom and love of the divine. The Ladies' Deposit.

Some Facts about that Notorious Institution.

[Henry A. Clapp in July Atlantic.]

The trick, it is to be noted, is not a new one, but has been played successfully at least once within the past twenty-five years in each of the countries of France, Italy and Bavaria. Its latest European form, the "Dachau bank" of an ex-actress, Adèle Spitzeder, which was operated in Munich from 1869 to 1872, and by which the Bavarians were cheated out of millions of dollars, is intrinsically the most interesting of these swindles, and is specially so to us because it had so many points in common with the Ladies' Deposit of Boston. No one, indeed, who has studied the stories of the two together can doubt that in some way or other, directly or indirectly, Fräulein Spitzeder's plan was the inspiration and model of Mrs. Howe's. Both opened banks of deposit, promised preposterous returns of interest, and successfully invited loans of money from the public. Neither had any pecuniary capital, or offered any security, the sole and sufficient reliance of each being upon her own impudence and the combined cupidity and credulity of her customers. Each made friends by playing the Lady Bountiful upon occasion, had a mixed party of gulls and knaves committed to her cause, drew herself out of poverty and into luxurious comfort by means of her bank, ended her career in prison, and left assets enough behind her to pay her creditors a dividend of about five per cent. The absolute essentials to long-continued success, as each swindler knew, were the prompt payment of the ridiculous rate of stipulated interest, and the prompt punishment in a depositor of any want of faith by a return of her principal and a haughty refusal ever to resume business relations with her. This latter operation, a very shrewd kind of moral "bulldozing," Mrs. Howe and her assistants used to perform magnificently and with great effect. Each counted upon a very rare withdrawal of principal so long as the extraordinary interest was paid and the customer's confidence unshaken. Many persons—and the writer admits to being one—at first found a little difficulty in understanding how such a concern could pay twenty-four per cent a month quarterly in advance, even for a couple of years, without investing its funds or receiving help from without. But the explanation is really quite simple; when once the popular faith begins to be established in such a bank, the principal flows in for some time in an ever-increasing stream, and for some time there is more than enough money always on hand to meet the current demand for interest and leave the operator a handsome margin for silks, jewelry, hot-house flowers, and all the other proper living expenses—although, of course, at every moment the concern is in fact utterly insolvent. In the case of the Ladses' Deposit some of the figures already given illustrate this well enough; the number of depositors in 1880 was five times as great as in 1879, and the receipts from the first quarter of the former year were therefore far more than enough by themselves to meet all the demands for interest then accruing on deposits of 1879, to take care of the usual small withdrawal of principal, and to give Mrs. Howe and her friends everything they needed for comfort. To keep such a concern alive there must be a like increase of deposits upon a geometric ratio all the time, and such a rate of advance cannot possibly be maintained for many years. The longer the thing lasts the wider is the circle of its final disaster and injustice, and the duty, therefore of every honest man, whatever the duty of honest woman may be, is to destroy such an enterprise as soon as it is unearthed. Mrs. Howe quite surpassed Miss Spitzeder in scrupulous obedience to the spirit of their common scheme. The latter sometimes—though rarely, to be sure—made investments of her deposited funds; the former never did such a thing, excepting once, when she lent a few hundred dollars to a furniture dealer: and her Ladies' Deposit had not a single cent of "income," in the banker's sense of that word. Mrs. Howe, in fact, carried on her business in all its branches with appropriately Spartan simplicity. She took her depositors' money; kept it in the drawers of a chifonière in the business parlor by day, as Mrs. Gould has often said, carried it off in baskets at night, and put it somewhere—probably under her bed—for safe keeping; paid out interest and principal from it when there were calls for such disbursements; bought her own house and land and furniture and fixtures with it; and always treated it entirely as her own,—which, indeed, in an important sense, it was. For this sort of banking none of the frippery of modern masculine book-keeping was needed, and none was used; the accounts of a Fiji Island fish-dealer could not have been kept more simply than those of Mrs. Howe, the Boston "financial agent," and Miss Crandall, who testified in court that she did not know the difference between a day-book and a ledger, was the very woman to serve as her chief clerk. In audacity the German operator sometimes surpassed her American imitator, but in cunning the latter absolutely excelled. Mrs. Howe—or whoever elaborated the original conception of her bank—recognized the decided superiority in sensibility and inquisitiveness of the average Bostonian over the average Bavarian, and her operations were conducted, especially at first, with an almost exquisite tact. The air of reserve and coyness with which the management enveloped itself acted like magic upon the credulity of the ordinary uneducated woman. Miss Susan Smith went to the Ladies' Deposit with her two hundred dollars in her pocket, a little timorous, somewhat dubious, rather incredulous. To her surprise, she found that her patronage was by no means solicited,—was not even wished, unless she was exactly the right sort of woman and precisely met some four or five conditions. In a few moments she began to burn with desire to enter the enclosure thus jealously guarded; and if she succeeded—as she generally did in the end—in persuading the person in charge to take her little all, she departed with a sense of deep gratitude that she had been permitted to become a depositor. The same idea, a little varied, was beautifully carried out in the request, delicately but firmly made in almost every case, that the customer would not gossip about the Ladies' Deposit. If, indeed, she had a particular female friend, who was excessively worthy and greatly in need, and who happened to have two hundred dollars or more, such a friend might, as a favor, be very quietly informed of the privileges of the establishment; but there was to be no babbling into the world's rude ear about these sacred mysteries of Eleusis. All this showed a fine knowledge of human nature, and in practice worked charmingly; the method resembling that often used in selling tickets to a charity ball, where it is mysteriously whispered to a few that the company will be very select, and admissions very hard to procure.

A TORNADO

Strikes Washington and Unroofs Houses.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—A thunder storm of unprecedented fury swept over the city tonight, commencing at 8 p. m. and lasting an hour. Ford's opera house, City Hall building, and a large number of residences were unroofed, shade trees prostrated and considerable damage done to the telegraph wires. Many cellars in the southern portion of the city were flooded. The extent of the damage to property in the city and Georgetown is estimated at $100,000. Considerable anxiety is felt for the safety of several excursion boats which left well filled with passengers for different points down the river during the day and evening, as it is feared the storm, in its passage southward met them returning.

AT ALBANY.

Some Prospect of an Election this Week.

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS IN THE BRIBERY CASES.

ALBANY, June 27.—The joint convention met at noon, Lieutenant Governor Hoskins presiding, and voted on the Conkling vacancy, as follows:

	Senate	Assembly.	Total.
Potter	3	28	31
Conkling	5	19	24
Wheeler	0	26	32
Cornell	1	1	2
Lapham	2	6	8
Hoskins	1	1	2
Roach	1	0	1
Crowley	0	1	1
	9	82	101

Mr. Spinola said that he would cast his vote under protest.

The chair declared no choice.

The convention then proceeded to vote to fill the Platt vacancy, the vote standing as follows:

	Senate.	Assembly.	Total.
Depew	9	26	35
Kernan	3	29	32
Platt	5	16	21
Hoskins	2	1	3
Cornell	0	4	4
Crowley	0	5	5
Lapham	0	1	1
	19	82	101

The chair announced no choice.

Mr. Turck offered a resolution that the convention take four ballots at each session until at least one United States Senator is elected.

Mr. Murphy moved to amend so that the resolution would read that not less than four votes be taken daily. This was accepted.

Mr. Niles moved a further amendment that the majority shall immediately after this session go into caucus and settle their difficulties. (Laughter.)

The chair declared this amendment out of order.

Mr. Hayes moved an adjournment, which was carried, leaving Turck's resolution unacted upon.

The New York Post's Albany despatch says it seems to be the general impression that an election of Senators will take place this week. The State Senators and members of the Assembly as they return are more inclined than heretofore to talk of combinations to end the struggle and adjourn.

No new developments in the Senatorial deadlock to-night. Conkling, Platt and a number of friends arrived on the 10.15 train and immediately went to their rooms for consultation.

The Bribery Cases.

The grand jury came in to-day with twelve indictments, seven of which were sealed up. Not having concluded their business they returned to their room. The county judge warned the jurors that they were just as liable in indictment at present as at any other time for disclosing the names of the indicted.

SPORTING.

Harvard Wins the 'Varsity Race.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The Post's New London dispatch says that Harvard won the Harvard-Columbia boat race by 13 seconds, after a remarkably close and interesting struggle. All the conditions were very favorable, the day being cool and cloudy. For the first mile the two crews were bow to bow, the Harvards passing mile flag one quarter of a second in advance. From this time Harvard drew ahead, though Columbia hung on her opponent's quarter in a plucky fashion. The time given is 21.45 for the winners. Harvard rowed in the better form of the two and displayed a quality of excellence which promises a close race next Friday with Yale. Eldridge of the Columbia crew was overcome by excitement and exhaustion and after the race fainted and has since remained in a semi-conscious state. He was taken to the Crocker House and medical assistance summoned. His condition not alarming.

The Harvard crew consists of the following men: Brandagee (bow); Sawyer, No. 2; Cabot, No. 3; Hammond, No. 4; Pfeiffer, No. 5; Hodgeas, No. 6; Chalifant, No. 7; Curtis (stroke); Buckman, coxswain. The total weight of the crew, exclusive of the coxswain, is 1388 pounds. Their antagonists, the Columbias, were as follows: W. A. Moore (bow); Charles Aldridge, No. 2; D. Rockhart, No. 3; J. T. Lynch, No. 4; J. H. Montgomery, No. 5; A. H. Van Sinderen, No. 6; H. R. Muller, No. 7; J. A. B. Cowless (stroke); J. Benjamin, coxswain, and their combined weight was 1315 pounds.

The Cornell Tourists.

LONDON, June 28.—The Standard says that as the time limited by the rules of the Henley regatta for the lodging of objections has elapsed, it may be taken for granted that the Cornell crew will stark.

Cornell has drawn the worst position in the heat with the London Club and Thames Club crews, in the race for the Steward's. The former is the present holder of the cup.

The Standard says: The Cornell crew do not seem to have a great pace; their style is certainly not calculated for lasting, but as they will compete with crews who will have already rowed a hard race, their short, quick stroke and fine condition may make them dangerous opponents.

Play was resumed at half past eight P. M., and the game did not close until past midnight. The score at the close stood: Vignaux and Garnier, 600; Piot and Slosson, 577. THE MORELOS ACCIDENT.

Two Hundred People Killed and Fifty Injured.

MEXICO, June 27.—Particulars of the accident on the Morelos railway have been received. Recent heavy rains caused freshets which had undermined the supports to the bridge over the San Antonio river near Mailpois. When a train carrying soldiers attempted to cross the structure gave way and the entire train was precipitated down a steep embankment. Part of the train consisted of freight cars loaded with alcohol. This set fire to the entire mass of wreckage and everything was burned. One hundred and ninety-two privates and thirteen officers are known to have been killed outright or slowly roasted to death. Fifty other persons were either fatally or seriously injured. The bridge was known to be unsafe, but was nevertheless continued in use. The road is narrow gauge, was built entirely by Mexican capitalists, and was first opened to the public on the 18th instant.

When information of the calamity reached this city the excitement was unbounded and crowds thronged all the news centres anxiously awaiting particulars. Never in the history of the Republic has so frightful a casualty been chronicled, and its occurrence, it is feared, may still further prejudice popular minds against railway enterprise. However "Los Gringos," as the natives terms all outside barbarians, can come in for no share of blame in this connection. The Morelos road is a narrow gauge line, built by a Government subvention, and is entirely the work of Mexican engineers. It was first opened to the public on the 18th inst. In addition to loss of life already reported it appears that the engineer and fireman were scalded to death.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 27.—The latest accounts of the disaster on the Morelos Railroad report 17 officers and 197 privates killed, not including railroad officials and employes or women and children of soldiers, many of whom were on the train. Only 60 persons in all were saved alive, and of these 40 were more or less injured. The disaster occurred at 11 o'clock Friday night as the train, which was a long one and drawn by two engines, was passing over a wooden bridge. For a moment after the plunge of the cars from the bridge all was darkness. Suddenly 100 barrels of brandy, loaded on two of the vans, caught fire and the burning fluid inundated the mass of passengers struggling in the ruins, only a few of whom were not disabled or hopelessly wedged in the timbers, escaped. The dead and living were wrapped in a sheet of flames and slowly burned before the eyes of the survivors.

An Illinois Defaulter.

NEW YORK.

Lightning and Hail on Long Island.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Continued reports are received of damage by the storm yesterday on Long Island. At Northville a house of Albert L. Benjamin was much shattered by lightning. At the house of Elisha Wells two large bolts of lightning came down the chimney into the room where the family were, but disappeared without damage except to the chimney. Crops were badly cut by hail and a large number of young pigs and fowl were killed.

Crazed by Newspaper Jests.

The wife of Bernard McGrane of 539 West Forty-third street died eight months ago, leaving him a family of nine children. On Wednesday he married again. Yesterday morning his son John, who is 8 years old and lives in the lower part of the city, visited him, and attempted to stab him with a pocket knife, giving as a reason, according to the father's statement, that he disapproved of stepmothers. John was committed to the workhouse for six months at the Yorkville Police Court.

THE COMET.

Observations at the Dartmouth Observatory.

HANOVER, N. H., June 27.—Observations at Dartmouth observatory last night showed that the comet was moving to a point approximating five degrees from the pole star, its motion being about three degrees a day. At its lower culmination it was approximating ten degrees from the horizon. As seen through a nine inch glass the comet was very clearly defined, being circular and fading away perceptibly. The comet itself passed over and nearly concealed an eighth magnitude star, making a beautiful sight. The form of the comet could be very clearly seen with a two or three inch objective. The comet is less than a minute of an arc in width and about a minute and a half in length.

ALBANY, June 27.—From Dudley observatory this morning at 1.30 o'clock the sight presented by the comet is said to have been one never to be forgotten. The comet stretched out across the heavens nearly forty degrees and the tail spread out into two well defined branches, enveloping the north star in a flood of milky light. The diameter of the nucleus is decreasing in rather an unexpected fashion, and this morning less brilliancy is to be seen in its course than was observed here Saturday morning. Prof. Bass states positively that this comet is the same as that seen from South America June 1st by Dr. Gould. He is satisfied it is neither the comet of 1807 nor of 1812.

They See Two at Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 27.—At 9.25 p. m. the comet is visible to the naked eye. It is about 30° above the horizon in northwest by north. The tail is long, strongly defined and straight as a ray of electric light. There is no resemblance between this comet and the one visible here between 2 and 3 o'clock a. m. The latter is the shorter and more brilliant of the two.

THE OLD STORY.

Two Attempted Murders in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—In the case of George Hillier who killed Walter Fink in the street last night while the latter was talking to a girl named Maggie Savage, the fact was developed today that Maggie is the wife of the murderer. He had forbidden her to see Fink. She denies the marriage, used her maiden name and recently engaged herself to marry Fink. There is no doubt however that she and Hillier are married.

About an hour after the Fink tragedy another jealous husband shot both his wife and her paramour. James Gourley, who has been living apart from his wife Dora for some time, entered her house through a window at 11 o'clock last night, and found her in a room with Daniel Dougherty. Without a word he began to shoot at both, Dougherty was shot twice in the shoulder but not mortally. Mrs. Gourley received one ball in her left breast. The doctors are not yet able to extract the ball. Gourley has been arrested.

THE EUSTACE.

A Maniac Cook and a Cowardly Crew.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—The steamer Newbern brings the crew of the schooner Eustace from Magellan and particulars of the killing of the captain and firing of the vessel by a maniac cook. The cook, who had shown signs of dementia, suddenly stabbed the captain as he entered the cabin. The men ran into a closet where axes were kept. The crew closed the cabin doors. The cook continued walking about the cabin several hours, threatening to fire the vessel. The crew got boats and soon after some smoke began rising from the cabin and the crew left hastily as the vessel had 2300 kegs of powder on board. Soon after she blew up. The maniac perished in the explosion. The crew reached Magellan after a sixty mile pull in a heavy sea.

THE MONGOLIAN.

Finds His Tongue at Last but Makes Little Use of It.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., June 27.—John Gyumber, the sleeping Hungarian at the poor house here, spoke several times last night, after a silence of 135 days. He said he belonged to the Sclavonic race and could speak Hungarian. His mind is still wandering but his condition is slowly improving.

Driven to Suicide by Remorse.

KANSAS CITY, June 27.—The body of the man found in the river here last Friday turned out to be that of Rev. Sidney M. Stray, who was expelled from the ministry by the Presbyterians at Glens Falls, N. Y., June 14th, for shooting his wife some time ago at Warrensburg, or Lake George, N. Y., where he was pastor of a fashionable church. He afterwards confessed to murdry allegations of adultery. Stray had resided in Leavenworth since last March where he was bookkeeper in a business house, but receiving a letter that his wife's brother had started West with the intention of shooting him he left Leavenworth, changed his name and intended to secrete himself until his brother-in-law had returned East. Coming to Kansas City it is supposed he took to drink and drowned himself.

Destructive Storm.

BRIDGEPORT, June 27.—A severe thunder shower accompanied by hail passed over the city yesterday afternoon, doing considerable damage. The large greenhouse of James Horan, florist, in the western part of the city, was completely wrecked by hail stones, which fell nearly as large as hen's eggs. Trees, shrubbery, etc., in the path of the storm suffered greatly. Frederick Butler of this city, with two companions, were out sailing in Black Rock harbor when a squall struck the boat, upsetting it. Butler was drowned. He was 40 years old and leaves a wife and children. At Newton, H. B. Goodsell was killed by lightning.

A Color Conflict.

RICHMOND, Va., June 27.—An affray occurred Saturday night at Columbia, Flumanna county, Va., between whites and blacks, in which one of the latter was fatally injured and others seriously hurt. The fracas occurred in a bar room, and all were intoxicated. Huckney, the negro most injured, was struck on the head with a pick handle, severely beaten and then thrown out of the window fifteen feet to the ground.

Pressing the Land Bill in the Commons.

PROGRESS OF THE REACTIONARY MOVEMENT IN RUSSIA.

A Notable Demonstration at Versailles.

PARIS, June 26.—Sunday afternoon Versailles was startled by the arrival of a deputation of Irish and Irish Americans who had come down from Paris to do honor to the memory of Gen. Hoche and to make an anti-English manifestation. Among the number were James Stephens, Patrick Eagan of the Land League, Gen. McAdams and Rev. Mr. Pepper of Ohio. After depositing wreaths at the foot of Gen. Hoche's statue, purporting to be the tribute of grateful Ireland, and after listening to a stirring poetic denunciation of the Sassenach from the pen of a young French poet, M. Robert, the deputation withdrew, leaving the guardian of the place and French bystanders thunged in astonishment. Later on at a banquet given, Mr. Casey in the chair, patriotic speeches of the fiercest description were delivered by Pepper, Davis, Eagan and Gen. McAdams. Mr. Stephens, who is still ailing, said only a few words of a non-political nature. In replying to the toast of "The Irish at home and abroad," Mr. Eagan said, "To-day we are fighting against landlords; tomorrow we may be fighting for independence."

A Reactionary Policy at St. Petersburg.

LONDON, June 27.—The correspondent of the Times at St. Petersburg writes as follows: "The endeavor of the present government is to show that the mild policy of the late government was an eminently dangerous one. The police are now engaged in bringing to light the danger which accumulated during Melikoff's rule. The Reactionists are making the most of the discovery of dynamite mines, etc., in order to frighten the court and secure their own position. Some suspicion seems to have been excited by the visit of Melikoff to Geneva. It is reported that police and spies have been detailed to watch him. The St. Petersburg newspaper press is hated at court because not a single independent organ favors the present government's desires. Severe penalties were lately imposed upon three or four journals, and several editors received a circular ordering them to submit the first proofs of their papers to the press censors before 4 o'clock in the morning."

The Land Bill.

The Times says it is believed that the Cabinet meeting Saturday decided to ask the Commons to proceed with the land bill from day to day. Gladstone will probably suggest this course today. If the proposal meets, as we anticipate, a general assent, the committee of the whole on the bill will sit five days a week until the clauses are finished.

A Foregone Conclusion.

The Times Madrid correspondent says the Spanish elections seem to be a foregone conclusion in favor of the government. I am assured that the budget of the minister of finance will make important proposals of reform and economy.

LONDON, June 27.—Deaths are announced of Edmond Beales, political reformer and formerly President of the Reform League, and John Joicy, Liberal member of Parliament for Durham.

No Governor-Generalship for Sir John.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The London correspondent of the Tribune says the rumor that Sir John Macdonald will be offered a peerage and the Governor-Generalship of Canada is pronounced on good authority to be baseless. Any such scheme would be wholly inconsistent with the policy of the Colonial office.

A Liberal Victory in Hungary.

Sixty-five years ago we had a summer much like this, if truth can be put in the following lines written with chalk upon the inside wall of Gibbs' old grist-mill in Livermore, in 1816, and to be seen thereon many years thereafter:

On the eighth of June it snow storm fell,
And water hard did freeze.
It killed the beans, it killed the corn,
And injured apple trees.

Personal.

Miss Isabel Hay, a daughter of Mr. O. H. Hay and a pupil of Miss Sewall's school, has just passed her examination for admission to Smith College. We learn that Dr. Wm. Warren Greene has received a special invitation to attend the International Medical Congress to be held in London in August, and will sail from New York for that city July 13th. THE LAND LEAGUE.

It Has no Sympathy with the Methods of O'Donovan Rossa.

MR. EDITOR: In your editorial last week upon the Irish Question you labored under a misconception in confounding the principles of the Land League with those advocated by O'Donovan Rossa and his followers. They are as opposite as the poles. The Land League proposes by moral constitutional agitation to put an end to the present land tenure of Ireland, a tenure which has made her the Niobe of nations and has been the fruitful source of her manifold woes. The leaders of the Irish Land League, Parnell, Davitt and Archbishop Croake, follow in the footsteps of that great apostle of peace, Daniel O'Connell. The public utterances of each have counselled peace and moderation. Their aim is by the force of argument and moral appeal to expose to the civilized world the accursed land system of Ireland in all its "horrid deformity," and arraign England, "the hypocrite of nations," at the bar of the civilized world.

The fund obtained by the Land League in the United States is devoted to the purpose of carrying on the land agitation, of assisting evicted tenants, and alleviating the distress which now prevails in Ireland. Not a dollar of the funds is devoted to any other purpose. Parnell and his fellow agitators have not only called the attention of the thinking world to the infamous system which, like an incubus, destroys the industries and paralyzes the energies of the Irish people, but have compelled the English government to present the land bill, and have united the Irish people as one in a determined effort to continue the present agitation until the last vestige of the accursed system is forever blotted from the face of Ireland.

The end desired by Parnell and Rossa is the same, their methods different. The one appeals to reason, the other to force. Parnell, like O'Connell, believes in marshaling the moral sentiment of the nation against the odious laws of England to effect his purpose, and like the great liberator I belive he will succeed. O'Donovan Rossa on the contrary proposes rather to fight England with her own weapons, to use all means, fair or foul,—the assassin's dagger, dynamite, the torch of the incendiary,—to destroy that nation which for seven centuries has oppressed his native land. Both are sincere patriots. But the methods of Rossa are repulsive to every civilized and Christian nation. They are condemned alike by reason and experience, and are repudiated by the great majority of the Irish people.

The Irish people resort not to assassination or the methods of the Nihilist. Their fortitude and sublime patience under their many afflictions is worthy of all praise and commands the greatest admiration.

LAND LEAGUE.

THE GRAND TRUNK.

The Particulars of the Late Stock Issue.

A recent number of the Montreal Herald, in its financial article, gives the following particulars of the late issue of £2,500,000 sterling by the Grand Trunk road, to which we have referred in the PRESS, and which will be read with interest by our merchants:

"Information has been received by cable to the effect that the directors of the Grand Trunk Railway Co. have successfully issued £2,500,000 sterling of the ordinary stock of the company at 26 per cent. It will be remembered that in 1873 the company was authorized to issue £10,000,000 sterling of ordinary stock at a price which would yield not less than 19 per cent. of its par value. This amount of stock was arranged to be floated through Mr. Alex. McEwen and Baron Grant, but owing to some misunderstanding £2,500,000 of the stock were left in the possession of the directors of the company. This is the amount that is now beplaced in the market and taken up by capitalists at 26 per cent. It is intended to apply the proceeds of the issue of stock to doubling certain portions of the track, building rolling stock and elevators and increasing the facilities of the railway generally. It was stated in some of the newspapers a day or two ago that the directors had taken a million of the stock themselves at 28 per cent. This statement was essentially incorrect, the misapprehension arising out of the fact that some parties in England made an offer for a call upon the stock within a given time at a certain price. The directors are to be congratulated alike upon the successful issue of the stock and the progressive policy they have decided to pursue. The extensive improvements that are contemplated will add greatly to the facilities which the Grand Trunk already affords to the business and travelling public. The proposal to equip certain portions of the line with double track is warranted by the rapid growth of the traffic of the road, and the increasing commerce of the country should render it a step, the wisdom of which the shareholders will never have occasion to question. The matter is one of no little importance to the Canadian trade, and the readiness with which the management of the Grand Trunk has undertaken to offer additional advantages of transportation is worthy of the highest commendation."

The Veteran Reunion.

The Executive Committee of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Association, at a meeting held last evening, unanimously voted to hold the encampment of the veterans at Portland on the 23d, 24th and 25th of August next.

Deering's Oaks was decided upon as the most suitable place for the encampment if the grounds are found to be sufficiently ample, and it was voted to extend a request to the Governor of the State to order the militia in camp at the time of the encampment of the veterans.

The following sub-committees were raised, and the chairman has authority to enlarge the same as he finds it necessary:

On Finance—Col. Frederick Robie and Major Chas. Walker.

On Subsistence—Major Wm. H. Green.

On Invitations—Lieut. Chas. W. Roberts associated with Gen. Joshua L. Chamberlain, President of the Association.

On Transportation—Wm. H. Pennell.

On Printing—Geo. M. Selders, Esq., and Lieut. Chas. W. Roberts.

On Decoration and Music—Col. T. A. Roberts.

On Grand Army—Col. Edward Moore.

Other committees will be duly announced as the appointments are made.

Look Out for Them.

Two men of medium height and thick set, one having a moustache, have adopted a neat game and should be looked out for. They will go into an apothecary store apparently strangers. One is well dressed, the other poorly attired. One asks for a half pint or pint, of liquor, as the case may be, on the ground of sickness. When the proprietor hands over the liquor—if his heart is touched by the stranger's urgent appeal—the fellow says he will pay for it the next day. If the proprietor seizes him to regain the liquor (seeing the fellow's game, the man passes the bottle to his confederate) who runs off with it. Then the first stranger tells the proprietor if he makes a fuss about the matter he will inform against him.

Irish Land League.

The Irish Land League held an interesting meeting last evening. On account of the mission which for the last four weeks has been conducted in the Catholic churches of this city by the Redemptorist fathers there has been no meeting of the League since May 23d. Henceforth the League proposes to continue the weekly meetings. It was voted to invite Rev. John Murphy, who is now returning from a visit to Ireland, to address the League. Father Murphy has traveled extensively in Ireland during his absence, and his address will draw a large audience. The semi-annual election of officers taker place Tuesday, July 12th.

The Ladies' Land League have hierd a piano which will be placed in the hall for their use.

Millett & Little.

If it did not seem too much like satire we should suggest to our readers to turn to the advertisement of Millett & Little. As what they have to say occupies a large portion of one page of the paper, and puts everything so clearly and concisely we cannot better it. We can, however, remind our readers that the firm is one of the most reliable in the city, that they are offering immense bargains, and the goods must be sold as the firm will soon remove to their elegant new store.

The Band Tournament.

There is great interest manifested everywhere in the state over the coming band tournament to take place at Lake Maranocook on July 5th. It will be a novel spectacle in Maine to see fifty bands of musicians, in all some 1100 men, contesting for the $470 to be offered in prizes of various amounts. Besides the musical attractions of the day there will be dancing in the pavilion, swinging and boating, and the fare for the round trip will be but a dollar.

Jersey Milk.

Mr. Daniel B. Soule, Woodford's, has just purchased eleven grade Jersey cows from Gen. Mattocks. These cows were bred from the first prize grade herd of Riverside Farm before thoroughbred Jerseys were introduced there. Mr. Soale started a Jersey milk route four years ago and now supplies 150 families with milk and cream.

Maine Lodge.

At the annual meeting of Maine Lodge last evening the following officers were elected:

Noble Grand—Albert Wallace.
Vice Grand—E. H. C. Thompson.

Monthly Meeting of the School Committee.

At the regular meeting of the School Board last evening, His Honor the Mayor presided. All the members were present.

The records of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The pay rolls and bills of the month amounted to $6,703.12.

Communications of applicants for positions in the schools were read and placed on file.

It was voted that Miss Lizzie C. Fuller be assigned to the Practice School for next year.

It appears by the report of the census just taken that there are 250 more youth of school age than last year.

The committee on Practice School report diplomas awarded yesterday afternoon to the following young ladies: Edith M. Barrows, Anetta Foster, Nellie C. Laughlin, Addie L. Libby, Mary S. Murch, Nellie A. Maxcy, Nellie A. Richards and Mary E. Sanborn, they having passed the required examination and had a practice in that school of one year. A very interesting lecture on the occasion was delivered by Dr. Hill; subject—"Knack and Knowledge."

The sub-committee on examination of teachers presented a series of questions for the examinations to occur Wednesday and Thursday, July 6th and 7th, and the same were adopted and ordered to be printed.

A Fine Display.

Hearn, the photographer, gave a very fine show with his stereo-panopticon last evening in front of his studio, which was witnessed by a large crowd of persons, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. Mr. Hearn intends to give this show nightly at Old Orchard Beach this season, and shows on the screen many beautiful portraits of children selected from his negatives, as well as beautiful and interesting scenery all over the world, statuary, &c. This will undoubtedly be a very popular exhibition to the many thousands who stroll along the beach enjoying the evening.

Aurora Encampment.

At a regular meeting of Aurora Encampment, No. 23, I. O. of O. F., of South Paris, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

C. P.—Eugene Fletcher.
S. W.—Geo W. Tucker.
H. P.—S. M. King.
Scribe—Leslie F. Keene.
J. W.—Geo. W. Brown.
Treasurer—A. E. Shurtleff.

The Race.

To the Editor of the Press:

The late "race" between the "Richmond" and "Mt. Desert" recalls an occurrence of last season. One fine Sunday morning of last August on the arrival of the former boat at Rockland, Capt. Dennison was quietly informed that the "Mt. Desert" had discharged some 25 tons of ballast and was prepared for a race. About this time the bottom of the "Richmond" was very foul, and this being well known to the "Mt. Desert" people, they expected an easy victory. You can judge of their surprise then, when the "Richmond" after allowing the "Mt. Desert" to get several lengths the start, quietly left the wharf, came up "hand over hand" and quickly passing her arrived at Bar Harbor nearly an hour in advance. The joke of the matter was that the "Richmond" had been in the dock and was thoroughly cleaned before leaving Portland the day before.

The Farmington Village Corporation Bonds.

FARMINGTON, June 25. 1881.

A meeting was held yesterday by the Farmington Village Corporation in relation to the judgment recovered by E. F. Pillsbury in the United States Court at Portland against said corporation. The meeting was fully attended. S. R. Leland was chosen Moderator.

Hon. F. G. Butler moved that the assessors of said corporation be instructed to carry the action no further but to accept the judgment of the Court as final, which was seconded. He also moved that when the vote on the question be taken it be by "yes" and "no," and that each man's vote be recorded. This last motion made met with strong opposition from E. I. Merrill, postmaster. He was opposed to having every man's vote marked to use in future years against him, but the motion was adopted by a decisive vote.

Mr. Butler then made an able speech, explaining how the bonds were issued; that the Legislature authorized the Village Corporation to issue the bonds under certain restrictions; that the corporation accepted the act by a vote of 148 in favor to 3 against, and that the vote on issuing the bonds was adopted—147 in favor to 1 vote against it.

The case was able advocated by I. Warren Merrill, Samuel Belcher, F. C. Perkins, J. P. Twing and others in favor of honorably paying the bonds, and by Joseph C. Holman, H. L. Whitcomb, Henry Richards, James Burnham and others in favor of carrying the case up to the full United States bench. The meeting was adjourned to Thursday, 30th inst., at 2 p. m., without taking a vote.

Old Orchard Notes.

The Sea Side Reporter gives the following notes:

William Ward, of Portland, H. B. M. Consul, is at the Sea Shore House for the season.

The taking out of the frog at the junction of the Old Orchard Junction and Eastern Railroad by the officers of the latter would have been a serious delay in the operating of the new road had it not happened that a field engine used by the pile drivers at the other end of the road could be utilized and made to do duty in hauling down the sleepers and rails. When the rolling stock arrives the frog will be replaced.

The Old Orchard Junction R. R. is expected to be completed this week. The depot at the junction will be ready for occupancy as soon as needed. The depot at the terminus of the road is not yet begun. Two two-story open cars, or double deckers as they are sometimes called, carrying 100 persons each, and a locomotive for the road, manufactured in Cleveland, Ohio, left there last Tuesday and should be in Boston at this date. Two more cars, open or closed as needed, are now building Philadelphia. The locomotive is of the Forney pattern and very powerful. It weighs seventeen tons, has the boiler on one end, the tender on the other and the cab in the centre, and runs either way without turning.

BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS are absolutely pure.

In the ladies' cabins of the Hoboken ferry-boats the following notice has recently been posted: "The seats in this cabin are reserved for ladies. Gentlemen will please not occupy them until the ladies are seated." That strikes us as reversing the proper positions.—Boston Post.

A little Whitehall girl after returning from church, said to her mother: "Ma, I don't think the hymn sung this morning was a very good one." "Why, my child?" asked the mother. "Because Eve wasn't a very good woman, and the hymn says: 'God loves Eve and me.' "—Whitehall Times.

Dear Sir—Having suffered intensely for four years with disease of the Kidneys, after having during that time tried various medicines without obtaining relief, I was induced to try a bottle of your ELIXIR OF LIFE ROOT, and it affords me pleasure to say that one bottle of it completely cured me. I recommend it as the only valuable and certain cure for kidney troubles I have ever seen. I would add that before taking your medicine I had become so weak that I was about to give up work.
